DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of claims 1,7-8 in the reply filed on November 10, 2005 is acknowledged. Claims 1, 7, and 8 are pending in the application for further examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1 and 7-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mark (Capturing Share: Who will walk away with the largest piece of the market?) in view of Rick.

As per claims 1 and 7, Mark displaying for each of a plurality of market participants, information with respect to number of units sold and value of units sold in a plurality of channels of channels for a period (Pages 1 paragraph 9 and entire page 3). The claim recite displaying graphical control for enabling a user to select a style of displaying said information with respect to number of units sold and value of units sold. Mark does not explicitly disclose displaying a graphical control. However, displaying graphical control to allow users to view and change of information is old and well-known in the display art. It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the applicant invention to have modified the teaching of Mark to incorporate this well known teaching of a graphical control for allowing market participants to view their data. thereby allowing the participants to efficiently view product information.

As per claim 8, Mark further discloses unit market share change from a prior period to said period. Note page 3 of Mark.

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

a. Sam (U.S. Patent No. 5,526,257) discloses a product evaluation system which displays units which are sold.

Minton (U.S. Patent No. 6,014,643) discloses an interactive security trading system, which discloses the units and values of security sold.

b. David et al (U.S. patent No. 6,473,744) disclose a method for trading electric energy, which teaches displaying a quantity of units of electricity and unit prices.

c. Rick (Value And Pain In Integration --Some click-and mortars are merging their traditional and online operations. (Company Business and Marketing)), discloses wherein companies views data from multiple channels.
